

Contents

Foreword by William C. Norris, vii

Preface, xi

Acknowledgments, xv

Introduction, i

Part One Habitats for Innovation and Their Inhabitants: Innovators Are Made, Not Born

- 1 The Once and Future Company, 13
- 2 On the Edge of the Possible, 36
- 3 Meeting Vital Needs, 53
- 4 Fostering the Courage to Innovate, 65
- 5 Building a Framework for Innovation, 82

vi Contents

Part Two Technology, Innovation, and Strategy

- 6 Journeys in Strategic Space, 99
- 7 The Care and Feeding of Strategy—The Technology Food Chain, 120

Part Three Forging a Strategic Journey: The Decision Trichotomy—Collaborate, Buy, or Make

- 8 Collaborate to Compete, 131
- 9 The Art of Acquisition, 155
- 10 “Make”: Relying on Internal Resources, 176
- 11 Accepting Daring and Unusual Challenges, 190

Part Four Strategies for the Unexpected and the Unusual

- 12 When It Hits the Fan: Perilous Journeys—Innovation in Times of Crisis, 209
- 13 Innovating Beyond the Walls, 224
- 14 Extraordinary Innovation, Extraordinary Collaboration, 236

Epilogue, 251

Appendix 1 Control Data Timeline, 261

Appendix 2 Organization Charts (1957–1986), 265

Appendix 3 Speech to the Control Data Corporation Board of Directors (March 14, 1985), 277

Appendix 4 Seymour Cray Letters, 283

Appendix 5 Speech to CBEMA Panel—“Microelectronics: ‘The Crude Oil of the ’80s’” (April 7, 1981), 289

Appendix 6 New York Times article: “Computer Accord Signed by Soviet”, 295

Appendix 7 Memoirs of Carolyn Firouztash, 299

Appendix 8 Control Data Corporation Spin-offs, 303

Notes, 305

Index, 311